

At Central Library
ALLOUD
Lecture Series, Performances, Discussions
ALLOUD

Wednesday, June 3 7:00 pm

Bloggging the Narco-Wars

Violence spills north of the border after the bloodiest year in the war to control drug smuggling through Tijuana. Join journalists from San Diego, Tijuana and a long-time watchdog of border violence to discuss the difficulties faced and methods used by reporters doing their jobs in Tijuana

With Victor Clark Alfaro, Founder, Binational Human Rights Center, Vicente Calderón, Tijuana TV reporter, & Amy Isackson, border reporter, KPBS San Diego.

Moderated by Adolfo Guzman-Lopez, reporter, KPCC 89.3FM

*Co-sponsored by the Society of Professional Journalists
Greater Los Angeles Chapter*

CENTRAL LIBRARY • Mark Taper Auditorium

Fifth & Flower Streets, Downtown L.A.

PARKING: 524 S. Flower St. Garage. $1 until 8:45pm with LAPL Card validation which must be obtained before the library closes at 8pm. $8.00 flat rate after 4pm without validation.

FREE, RESERVATIONS: (213) 228-7025 or www.aloudla.org

Limited Seating, Reservations Recommended.

ALoud is made possible through the generosity of The Ralph M. Parsons Foundation. Additional support is provided by the Annenberg Foundation, City National Bank, Donna and Martin J. Wolff and contributors to the Stay Home and Read a Book Ball. Media support provided by the Los Angeles Times, 89.3 KPCC, KUSC 91.5 FM, and KCET.

The Library Foundation of Los Angeles secures private support to help provide the Los Angeles Public Library with everything from books and materials to reading enrichment programs, technology, cultural events, exhibitions and select capital improvements.